Dear Friends of Jefferson College Foundation

Organizations of success are built on foundations of vision, commitment, discipline and passion. I have served on the Jefferson College Foundation Board of Directors for many years, and am currently the President.

The Foundation is stronger today than it has ever been, thanks to the outstanding leadership of past president Dennis Kehm who provided a stable foundation, determined focus, and a positive direction. I sincerely appreciate his tireless commitment to preserve the Foundation’s mission, and place it in the direction we currently enjoy.

Last summer, the college placed interim director, Tom Burke, in the permanent position of Executive Director of Development and the Foundation. This move by the college along with Tom’s successful history with the Foundation added significant consistency to our efforts to promote Jefferson College among donors and the community. Tom’s passion for the missions of Jefferson College and the Foundation are apparent to anyone who knows him.

Tom’s passion was never more evident than when the Foundation secured the largest private donation it had ever received from businessman David Ault. Mr. Ault’s monumental gift of a fully-furnished house located on the beautiful grounds of Fox Run Golf Club in Eureka is affectionately called the “Ault” house, which he donated last year along with a $500,000 bequest. Mr. Ault also arranged for the Foundation to hold its annual Viking Classic golf tournament at the private course. The tournament sold out with 146 golfers weeks before the event date, and had a waiting list of others who wanted to participate if a spot opened up. In addition to being used for meetings, the Ault house has served as a venue for College and Foundation activities, including entertaining potential corporate and individual donors, awards and recognition ceremonies, fundraising events, and the prestigious Monticello Society induction of new members.

During the 2012-13 fiscal year, the Foundation received large corporate gifts from AT&T to provide student veterans with financial support to assist with their education, and from Commerce Bank to support the arts by creating a gallery in the Administration building on the Hillsboro campus that would showcase the talent and creative abilities of our students, faculty and community, and also serve as a reception area to honor and recognize special guests of the college and Foundation.

In addition to these corporate donations is a gift which I feel signifies the impact Jefferson College has on its students. One of the college’s first graduates, Jane Houser, and her husband Branton made a significant gift to establish the Jane Houser Endowed Scholarship. Jane returned to school in her forties during the 1960’s, and developed a deep passion for Jefferson College. Since then, two additional generations of the Houser family have graduated from Jefferson College. The impact the college and its educators had on Jane 50 years ago has lasted a life time, and left an impression inspiring her to give selflessly of herself to provide that same opportunity for inspiring passion to others.
This year was a phenomenal year for Foundation fundraising events. Our Viking Classic golf tournament, Jazz & Jeans dinner auction, and the Mark Spurrier music concert exceeded expectations. The events would not be possible without the support and efforts of Foundation staff and volunteers, Trustee and Foundation Board members, college administration and staff, and many dedicated volunteers.

All have a deep passion for the success of the Foundation, and to provide Jefferson College students with opportunities for development, growth and success that might not otherwise be available with traditional funding alone.

The Foundation is blessed with board members who collectively and individually give their time, energy and financial support. I have been on the board for many years. When I was elected President of the Foundation Board last year, I inherited from Dennis Kehm an organization that is energized, focused and having fun. Board members are engaged and dedicated to the Foundation’s mission to provide support to Jefferson College and its students, staff and facilities. One of the ways we do this is by inviting local business and community leaders to tour Jefferson College so they can see the college’s growth, beautiful campus, contagious energy and enthusiasm of faculty, the excitement of students, and its immediate and long-term needs. Individuals have toured who attended many years ago and hadn’t been back in many years. Others have toured who have never set foot on the campus, and were overwhelmed with how much the college has to offer not only to students, but to the community as well through continuing education, theatrical and arts experiences, sporting events, and community activities. No matter their history with Jefferson College, all are overwhelmed by the campus, the number of students served, and the needs of the college; and all develop an interest in establishing a strategy to help the Foundation achieve its mission of helping Jefferson College provide top-notch education and programs for our students.

Foundation Board members have tremendous talent and are strong leaders. The executive committee will continue to nurture this talent for long-range leadership and effective succession strategies, and will recruit volunteers, alumni, and future board members who have a deep passion and commitment to Jefferson College. The Jefferson College administration and Board of Trustees have done a phenomenal job meeting the needs of the campus as public funding has dwindled and programs repealed. Raising funds for the needs of the students, faculty and campus have never been more important.

I invite you to join our army and continue to make a positive difference in the lives touched by Jefferson College, and I look forward to working with each and every one of you to continue to secure the future of Jefferson College.

Sincerely,

Mike Walsh, President

Our Mission

The mission of Jefferson College Foundation, a separately incorporated 501 (c)(3) nonprofit organization, is to increase resources, to raise funds and to cultivate friends and partnerships to support Jefferson College and its mission.

Our Vision

The Jefferson College Foundation, Inc. will be recognized as a premier community college foundation and a leader in raising funds to meet and to exceed the College and community needs.

Our History: A Tradition Worth Promoting

Founded in 1991, the Jefferson College Foundation provides financial support of Jefferson College and its mission. We are committed to securing the financial resources needed to support the College's ongoing commitment to provide "superior teaching and services, a supportive learning environment, a strong general education curriculum, college transfer and technical programs, personal enrichment courses and on-campus experiences that prepare students to succeed in their careers, further their education and prosper in a diverse world."

The Jefferson College Foundation is committed to expanding accessibility within the Jefferson County region so that a high-quality, affordable college education is available to all. The Foundation's focus is on building strong relationships within the community—matching donors' philanthropic interests in higher education and cultural enrichment to specific Jefferson College funding opportunities. The Mission of the Jefferson College Foundation is to support the growth and development of Jefferson College in whatever ways are beneficial to its students, faculty, staff and campus facilities.

The Jefferson College Foundation, Inc. is a nonprofit IRS 501(c)3 organization. Donations to the Foundation help Jefferson College and its students achieve far more than would be possible through traditional public revenues alone. Donor contributions have helped in the following areas, to name just a few:

- Student Scholarships
- Program Development
- Student Activities & Events
- Library & Learning Resources
- Athletics
- Capital & Infrastructure Projects
- Endowment Funds
- Cultural Enrichment
- Emergency Student Loans and Grants
In recognition of the extraordinary achievements of the Foundation Board of Directors, highlighted by the acquisition of the single largest valued donation in the history of the philanthropic organization in 2012, Dr. Raymond Cummiskey recently presented a proclamation of gratitude on behalf of the Jefferson College Board of Trustees.

Foundation Board representatives Michael Walsh (President), Tom Burke (Interim Director of Development), and Jacquelyn Moran (Secretary) look on as College President Dr. Raymond Cummiskey reads a proclamation in appreciation of the organization’s service to the college and community.

Jefferson College Foundation Supports Pilot Project to Improve Student Placement Scores.

In connection with the Foundation’s mission to fund projects that benefit Jefferson College students, the organization funded the first-ever Jeffco Aspiring Student Summer Institute (JASSI) in June and July for freshman students wanting to improve their Compass placement score in reading, writing or math.

Up to 31 students who were GED graduates or Workforce Investment Act (WIA) or Trade Readjustment Allowance (TRA) qualified were accepted into the program. At the end of the institute, students retook the Compass.

JASSI has the potential to positively impact students by strengthening their key academic skills and preparing them for future success in college.
Foundation Receives $1 Million Property/Bequest Gift - Largest in Organization’s History

The Jefferson College Foundation has received the single largest donation in the history of the philanthropic organization thanks to a gift of over $1 million from businessman David G. Ault.

Ault, who is the president and owner of Fox Run Golf Club, Fox Run Builders, and Eureka Springs, Inc., signed a $500,000 bequest and gifted a new, fully furnished 4,400 square foot eco-friendly home with accompanying golf club membership at a total combined value in excess of $1 million. The donation signifies his commitment to higher education in our community and region during a period of declining state financial support.

“I decided that it was the right time to do this, and by spreading the word, perhaps others will follow,” said Ault regarding the $1 million plus donation. “Jefferson College is a valuable asset to our community and its excellence is demonstrated in the thousands of graduates that live and work throughout the region. I’m proud to support the college and the good things it does to prepare students for a better quality of life.”

“Jefferson College and the Foundation owe an extreme measure of gratitude to David for his generosity and loyalty,” said College President Dr. Raymond Cummiskey. “It’s also important to thank those individuals whose participation and personal contact were vital in making this extraordinary moment possible. David’s unselfish act will provide a lasting legacy for others to follow in support of the college, and, ultimately, our community.”

Ault’s decision to provide the $1 million gift follows communication and involvement with current and past Jefferson College presidents and current/past Foundation presidents and board members, spearheaded by Foundation Interim Executive Director Tom Burke over the past three years.

“My relationship with David began with an invitation to lunch in 2005, at which time he expressed an interest in making a gift to the Foundation, continued as he so generously donated use of the house for last year’s Monticello Society reception, and culminated with his recent multi-faceted gift which will impact the fulfillment of the Foundation's mission today, tomorrow, and for years to come,” said Foundation Interim Executive Director Tom Burke. “I can't thank him enough.”
The energy-efficient, luxury home will be used by the college for cultivation, solicitation and stewardship of donors and prospects in order to raise funds that will help students meet their goals and have a higher quality of life. Specific uses will include faculty/staff receptions focused on cultivation of prospects for targeted gifts; stewardship activities such as the annual Monticello Society recognition ceremony; cultivation lunches, dinners, and parties for individuals or small groups; cultivation of individuals prospects via golf; business and industry prospect activities; Alumni and Friends Association receptions; and selected Foundation and college-approved meetings.

The college may also choose to hold its annual Viking Classic Scholarship Golf Tournament for the Athletics Department at Fox Run beginning in 2013.

“The Foundation is to be commended for securing this monumental gift on behalf of Jefferson College and its students,” said Board of Trustees President Krystal Hargis. “It’s very exciting, and it really touches me to see the generosity and commitment of Mr. Ault.”

The Foundation provides opportunity and access to higher education through scholarships and financial support. During the extended period of economic uncertainty, the organization has assumed a major role in meeting the needs of the college and its students. The commitment of donors—individuals, alumni, organizations and businesses alike—has taken on a greater role of importance more than ever before.

“David’s gift represents a new energy and course of direction as established by past-president Dennis Kehm and the Foundation Board,” added current Foundation President Michael Walsh. “His generosity sets a standard for others who may be in a position to support the college through the donation of property or similar bequests.”

The foundation fulfills its mission by actively encouraging private gifts of cash as well as stocks and bonds, real and personal property, insurance, and in-kind donations from individuals, alumni, businesses, associations, and service organizations. Funds are also raised through special events.
In appreciation and recognition for a gift by Commerce Bank and the William T. Kemper Foundation to create an art gallery on the Hillsboro campus, the Jefferson College Foundation recently hosted a public reception to commemorate the opening of the artistic space.

The $25,000 contribution has enabled Jefferson College to provide a venue for displaying the talents of its art students, faculty and community members; create an additional source of art and cultural enrichment within Jefferson County; and transform the location into a pleasing reception area where both the college and Foundation can entertain or recognize special guests.

Jefferson College and the Foundation are extremely grateful for the generosity and vision of Commerce Bank and the William T. Kemper Foundation in supporting arts on campus and in our region.
Jefferson College’s Annual Event Series Sets the PACE for Arts and Culture in Jefferson County

The Jefferson College Cultural Diversity Committee announced the first annual PACE (Performing Arts and Cultural Enrichment) event series in 2012 as an extension of the college’s mission to make educational opportunities and diverse experiences accessible to residents of all ages.

The PACE series includes world-class guest artists such as the Becca Stevens Band, Strings of Arda, saxophonist Kenneth Tse, Afriky Lolo, the Harlem Wizards, and woodwind specialist Chris Vadala. The series is also highlighted by student-community performances such as plays, band and choir concerts, and art exhibits.

“A hallmark of any great college is a vibrant arts series featuring performers and experiences that shape our perspective and offer something for everyone,” said Cultural Diversity Committee Chair and Music Assistant Professor Dr. Joel Vanderheyden. “The PACE series includes first-rate artists and performers that celebrate the human spirit, enrich our lives and broaden our understanding of the world, all while providing great entertainment.”

A PACE season pass, which includes admission to the entire season of events, is available for $25 general admission and $15 for students and senior citizens.

Jefferson College and COMTREA Take Back the Night to Raise Awareness of Sexual Abuse

As part of an international effort to end sexual violence in all of its forms, including sexual assault, sexual abuse, dating violence, and domestic violence, Jefferson College and Community Treatment, Inc. (COMTREA) co-hosted another “Take Back the Night” fundraiser on April 25th. The event was also being held in conjunction with April’s designation by President Barack Obama as National Sexual Assault Awareness and Prevention Month.

The inspirational evening included several awareness activities highlighted by a walk to recognize and support survivors of sexual violence and abuse, and provided an opportunity to view the Clothesline Project, an avenue for victims and survivors affected by violence to express their emotions by decorating a shirt and hanging it on a clothesline to be viewed by others as testimony to the problem of violence. Luminaries that attendees had sponsored to honor or remember a loved one that tragedy or violence has affected lit the walkway.

Tax deductible donations were also collected during the event to the Mary Daniels Scholarship fund in support of the former Jefferson County resident who was brutally attacked and stabbed to death by her estranged husband.

“Take Back the Night” empowers survivors in the healing process and inspires responsibility in all with a goal to create safe communities and respectful relationships through awareness events and initiatives. Events highlight the problem of violence against women as well as the broader issues of sexual violence: sexual assault, dating violence, sexual abuse, domestic violence, stalking, sexual harassment, child abuse, and other unhealthy relationships.

For more information about “Take Back the Night” activities, contact Jefferson College Resource Advisor Deb Shores at (636) 481-3286 or Kathy Porter at COMTREA (636) 296-6206.
Self Defense Workshop Benefits Mary Daniels Memorial Scholarship

Women and men ages 12 and older throughout the region participated in the third annual self-defense workshop at Jefferson College on Saturday, February 23, to raise funds for a scholarship in memory of Jefferson County resident Mary Daniels (Colletta) who was stabbed to death in 2010 by her estranged husband.

Using a variety of visual demonstrations and practice repetitions on a padded floor, the workshop taught participants how to defend themselves against standing attacks, weapons, attacks from behind, and ground maneuvers using a high degree of repetition and hands-on practice. Instruction also included the proper use of knees and elbows, creating “space” when attacked, and being aware of environment and surroundings.

The workshop was led by Kevin Hahn who is a North American Grappling Association (NAGA) national champion and operates Hahn Extreme Fitness and MMA Gym in Festus.

The idea for this self-defense workshop was originated by Eagle Bank Assistant-Vice President, Branch Manager Hillsboro Facility, Donna Kohl. For the past three years, she has been the driving force behind the planning and fundraising efforts that support the event and its worthy cause.

Proceeds from the workshop will go toward the Mary Daniels Memorial Scholarship to Jefferson College. The event is being sponsored by Eagle Bank, First State Community Bank, Hahn Extreme Fitness and MMA, the Missouri National Guard, and Jefferson College Athletics.

Motorama Rumbles Jefferson College

In conjunction with JCGA (Jefferson County Growth Association), the Jefferson College Foundation hosted a Motorama Show on October 6th at the Jefferson College Hillsboro campus.

Participants came from all areas to show off their favorite rides! The family event included raffles, giveaways, food and music by the band Exit 180, in addition to captivating experiences featuring cars, trucks, motorcycles and tractors.
AT&T Proud to Support Education Program for Local Veterans

$10,000 grant will aid student veterans and establish a SALUTE chapter at Jefferson College

In its support of veterans and local communities, AT&T contributed $10,000 to the Jefferson College Foundation to establish a Student Veterans Support Grant for emergency loans, textbook support and other needs. A presentation ceremony was held in mid-February, attended by local legislators, AT&T representatives, student veterans, Foundation board members, and college administrators, faculty and staff.

“From AT&T’s extensive partnerships with disabled veteran-owned businesses and our aggressive recruitment of top military talent to our charitable contributions of more than $9 million worth of calling cards for military personnel, AT&T has been proud to support the Military throughout AT&T’s 137-year history,” said John Sondag, President of AT&T-Missouri.

“Every year, AT&T hires hundreds of military veterans because the self-discipline, teamwork and skills gained in military service are the same values that are part of our everyday culture. I am honored to continue AT&T’s tradition of proud support with this grant to Jefferson College for their student veterans.”

“As a ‘veterans friendly’ institution, Jefferson College is extremely proud and thankful to serve the brave men and women who have, in turn, served our country by defending the freedom we enjoy each day as Americans,” said College President Dr. Raymond Cummiskey. Approximately 150 student veterans attend Jefferson College and rely on veteran benefits to help pay tuition, books, and living expenses. However, because veteran benefits are paid at varying times throughout each semester, it can create significant obstacles or hardships for our student veterans, particularly at the beginning of the semester. AT&T’s grant is a wonderful gift that lets us help support our student veterans as they pursue their goal of receiving a higher education.”

AT&T’s grant provides support to student veterans in a number of ways:
The grant establishes an emergency loan program for veterans who qualify for benefits but whose funding is delayed – allowing Jefferson College to extend financial support to veterans with extenuating circumstances. The grant also helps alleviate textbook costs for veterans. Rather than delaying textbook purchases until veterans receive their funding, which can arrive after the semester has already begun, the grant will help ensure that student veterans are ready for the first day of class.

The third component of the grant establishes a “SALUTE” chapter, a national honor society recognizing academic achievement of student veterans and the military, at Jefferson College.

“It is so important to help the brave men and women who give so much for us.” “Veterans have answered their country’s call, and it is our duty to help veterans succeed at home,” added state Sen. Gary Romine. “Jefferson College’s commitment to its student veterans is laudable.

In addition to the AT&T Student Veterans Support Grant, the college offers numerous services to military students (and their spouses/dependents) receiving education benefits. For more information about student veteran services at Jefferson College, contact VA Certifying Official Betty Clark Dye at (636) 481-3210 or email bdye@jeffco.edu.
Donor Stories

County Assessor’s Office Donates Civil War Era Records to Jefferson County History Center

The Jefferson County Assessor’s Office recently donated a series of 13 bound volumes from the Civil War era to the Jefferson County History Center located in the Jefferson College Library on the Hillsboro campus. Pictured with the records are, from left, Jefferson County Historical Society Vice President Carole Goggin, Jefferson County Assessor Terry Roesch, and Jefferson College Library Services Director Lisa Wolfe.

Ranging in date from 1859-1870, the materials consist of county assessment books and abstracts, personal property and real estate assessments, tax records and funded debt, and assessor’s books. As a public resource, the materials can be used by those looking for family history or movement during the Civil War period.

The Jefferson County History Center serves as an archive for Jefferson County and is located on the second floor of the Library. The History Center is used for genealogical research by Jefferson County residents as well as visitors from many different states and Canada, whose ancestors once lived in the region. The center provides access to such documents as probate files dating from the 1820s, real estate and personal property taxes from the 19th through the mid-20th century, the federal census for Jefferson County, and county newspapers from 1869-1952. Use of the Jefferson County History Center is available by appointment only by calling (636) 481-3166 or (636) 797-3000, ext. 3166, or emailing refdesk@jeffco.edu.

Automotive Program Receives Autos and Engines Donation

The Jefferson College Automotive Technology program recently received a donation of five engines and two luxury vehicles—a Mercedes-Benz 190 and a Jaguar S-Type—from Autos of Europe.

The donated equipment will be used to support student mastery of skills in connection with the college’s recent certification by the National Automotive Technicians Education Foundation (NATEF) and the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) for meeting strict industry standards in the areas of brakes, electrical/electronic systems, engine performance, engine repair, and suspension/steering.

The Automotive Technology program is among several popular training options offered at Jefferson College, allowing students to pursue an Associate of Applied Science degree or a Career and Technical certificate. Graduates are employed at some of the most respected and well-known repair facilities throughout the region.

Dear Mr. Dewoskin:

I write to express my sincerest appreciation for the scholarship which was awarded to me for my studies at Jefferson College for the fall 2011 semester.

I will be spending my time at Jefferson College to receive my associates degree, so I will be able to move onto a 4-year college. Which I hope will be The University of Central Missouri. While spending almost 6 years in college I hope to become a history/psychology teacher. My dream is to change a student’s life. I have grown to appreciate education, to value education, to want to learn. I wish to thank you for the scholarship. Being able to use it will help me more than I ever expected.

Sincerely,
Kayla Asbridge

I have always dreamed of being able to attend college after high school. Now that I have been named as one of the recipients of the JW Thurman Memorial Scholarship program, my dream is becoming a reality.

I am glad to have the opportunity to thank you personally for your generosity. Without scholarship patrons like you, there would be many students such as myself unable to pursue the career they have dreamed of.

Sincerely,
Mallory Baker

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and express my sincere appreciation for awarding me the Walmart Stores of Jefferson County Scholarship. This scholarship will allow me to continue my studies in the Business Management program at Jefferson College.

It has been a lifelong dream of mine to go to college and complete my degree in Business. I had placed my education on hold to raise my autistic son. I have no regrets as my son is now twenty-five years old and doing well. Your generosity is assisting me in living out my dream. I take my education very seriously and strive to learn all that I can. I cannot thank you enough for helping me in my endeavors.

Sincerely,
Janet Gaston
My name is Mary Brod and I am a Business Information Technology Legal Professional student at the Jefferson College-Hillboro campus. I have received two scholarships from Jefferson College since I began my journey to continue my education in the fall of 2010. The first was the GED scholarship, which was useful but has expired, and the second was the Career and Technical Education scholarship, which is in full effect this semester.

The CTE scholarship has helped me by paying for half of my fall tuition which, in turn, allowed me to save enough money from my PELL grant to purchase my first vehicle and pay my car insurance in advance. I'm grateful for both the scholarship and the PELL because without financial assistance, I would not be able to attend college. That's what I love about Jefferson College! It provides numerous financial opportunities for students to enroll, or stay enrolled, in any degree and/or certificate program.

I will graduate in May 2013 and I will be sad to leave. I have had such a wonderful experience with the students, faculty, staff, and just the overall environment of this place. I will miss you, Jefferson College and all that you offer.

Sincerely, Mary Brod

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the scholarship I have been awarded. I am honored to have been selected again and I greatly appreciate your generosity in helping me reach my educational goals.

I am currently working on my Associate in Applied Science in nursing degree. After earning my associates degree, I plan on working as a registered nurse while working towards my Bachelor of Science degree in nursing.

I have always dreamed of going to college and pursuing a degree in nursing. I grew up in a large family and college was somewhat of a financial challenge for us. After high school, I attended a vocational school and immediately started working. I returned to school to get my degree after being out in the workforce for 16 years. I have been working part-time since returning to school to provide some basic educational expenses, but thanks to your generosity, my dreams are finally becoming a reality.

Once again, I offer my sincerest thanks for your generosity and support in my pursuit of an education to the Joseph Becker Memorial Scholarship.

Sincerely, Jean M. Fink, SNJC

I received a scholarship from Jefferson College. When I was 16 I became a statistic and dropped out of high school. I always wanted to finish but kept putting it off. Life got in the way and there just never seemed to be enough time. Before I knew it 20 years had passed.

In February of this year I signed up for GED classes at Jeffco. I officially got my GED on May 21st. At first my goal was just to pass the test. Then the more practice tests I took, the more I wanted to ace that test and get a scholarship!

I have always dreamed of returning to school to pursue my dream of becoming a Registered Nurse. The scholarship is helping me to do that. I can focus more of my attention on school and less on how I am going to pay for it.

Thank you very much Jefferson College.

“The generosity and compassion of those who are being recognized through the Monticello Society underscores the belief that access to a college education can make the difference between failure and success in someone’s life,” said College President Dr. Raymond Cummiskey.

“Jefferson College and its students are extremely grateful for their level of support in helping to make our community better through the opportunity to receive a higher education.”

Each Monticello Society honoree received an engraved, handcrafted silver-plated pewter cup based on an original design by Thomas Jefferson. Attendees were also greeted by members of the Student Ambassadors, treated to gourmet refreshments prepared by students in the college’s Culinary Arts program under the direction of George Schmidt of Specialized Catering Company with food donated by Foundation Board Member Mike Kumpf of Specialized Catering Company, and entertained by students from the Jefferson College Jazz Band.

The Monticello Society will meet annually to recognize new members whose generosity and loyalty has a great impact on Jefferson College.

Additional photos from the event can be seen on the “Jefferson College News and Events” Facebook page.
Melvin (Mel) Reginald Sims
May 30, 1926 – October 13, 2012

Former Jefferson College Assistant to the President/Executive Vice President Mel Sims, who provided invaluable leadership, assistance and support under three distinct administrations from 1969-1992, passed away on October 13.

Mel began his career in education in the early 1950s as a high school teacher in Mississippi. In the years following, he taught at three state universities in Mississippi, Arkansas and Illinois. All the while, he kept a continual eye on the emerging growth of community colleges. When the opportunity came to become part of the Jefferson College family in 1969, he seized it and never looked back.

Much of the sound leadership the college experienced from the 1970s to the early 1990s was attributable to Mel. His philosophy, “you get out of the community what you put into it,” was exemplified in all that he embodied.

Mel’s unpretentious charm and gracious hospitality were hallmarks of his professional career and life. Aside from his warm, friendly Southern demeanor and reputation as a “go to” administrator, among Mel’s many contributions to the college were the creation of the Child Care Center and the development of Jefferson College’s newsletter The Windjammer, which debuted on October 15, 1979.

Mel was also an active member of numerous civic and community Organizations including the Hillsboro Rotary Club, Phi Delta Kappa, the Highway 21 Task Force, East West Gateway Council, the Missouri State Board of Health, the Jefferson Memorial Hospital Home, Health and Hospice Committee, St. Anthony’s Medical Center, Valle Ambulance District, Jefferson County 911 Board of Directors, Hillsboro Community Civic Center, Missouri State Teachers Association, Boy Scouts of America, Gideons International, the Jefferson College Baptist Student Union, and First Baptist Church Festus-Crystal City, First Baptist Church of Hillsboro, and Raintree Baptist Church where he and his wife, Lillian, were charter members.

He was also an original member of the Jefferson County Community Health Center Board of Directors that contributed $220,000 as the largest endowment ever received by the Jefferson College Foundation.

After his retirement from Jefferson, he taught business and marketing classes on campus through Missouri Baptist University. In recognition of his many accomplishments and influences, he was the co-recipient of the Jefferson College Foundation’s 2004 Outstanding Community Achievement Award.

Mel’s legacy of community involvement, compassion and sincerity will live on through the many lives he touched on campus and in our community. His spirit of compassion, professionalism and love of higher education and community was an inspiration to many.
Cash
Making a donation of cash to the Viking Fund is as simple as writing a check or authorizing a charge on your credit card. From your standpoint, it’s no fuss, no bother. Find out how the Jefferson College Foundation can put your unrestricted or restricted contribution to work without delay.

Securities
Stock that has increased in value is one of the most popular assets used for charitable giving, once it has been held for more than one year. Making a gift of securities offers you the chance to help our organization while realizing many important benefits for yourself.

Charitable IRA Rollover
Under the extended charitable IRA legislation, if you’re age 70½ or older you can make charitable gifts now to the Jefferson College Foundation using funds from your individual retirement accounts (IRAs) without undesirable tax effects.

Real Estate
Your property opens the door to a unique giving opportunity. From townhomes to farmland, many types of real estate assets can be donated to qualified charitable organizations like ours. You’ll be helping a good cause, enjoying tax benefits and potentially setting up a lifetime stream of income.

Retirement Plan Assets
Do you have money saved in an employee retirement plan, IRA or tax-sheltered annuity? Each of these retirement plan assets contains income that has yet to be taxed. Your beneficiaries will owe the income tax at your death, totaling up to 35 percent, which may be reason enough to consider giving your loved ones less heavily taxed assets and leaving your retirement plan assets to charity instead.

Closely Held Stock
A donation of your closely held stock can be a fine way for you to make a sizable charitable contribution while realizing valuable tax benefits.

Life Insurance
Most of us think of life insurance as protection, especially for our loved ones. But it is also a powerful tool you can use to champion our work far into the future.

Life Insurance Death Benefits
Your need for life insurance changes as time passes, making way for a new opportunity for its use. If you no longer need the coverage to protect your loved ones, consider changing your policy’s beneficiary to support the Jefferson College Foundation.

Tangible Personal Property
Many items of tangible personal property make suitable charitable gifts. The available tax deduction depends on whether or not the organization that receives the property will use it in a way that is related to its tax-exempt purpose.

Savings Bonds
There’s more than one way to turn your savings bonds into a generous donation while reducing the tax liability generated by these secure investments.
Gift Strategies

Bequests
Help students and Jefferson College by using one of the most popular and simplest ways to make a gift.

Beneficiary Designations
Continue supporting our work even after your lifetime by naming us as a beneficiary of your retirement plan, life insurance or insurance annuity assets.

Charitable Gift Annuities
Make a donation and, in turn, receive a fixed annuity payment each year for life.

Memorial and Honorary Gifts
If you have a family member or friend whose life has been touched by the Jefferson College Foundation, we hope you’ll consider making a gift to us in honor of that person.

Charitable Remainder Trusts
In the right circumstances, this plan can increase your income, reduce your taxes, unlock appreciated investments, rid you of investment worries and ultimately provide very important support.

Endowed Gifts
Discover a powerful way to make a gift to us in your name or in the name of a loved one while realizing tax benefits for your kindness.

2013 Alumnus of the Year - Bill Haggard

“I am honored to be selected as the Jefferson College Alumnus of the Year during the college’s 50th anniversary celebration year,” said Haggard. “I am most appreciative of the opportunity I had at Jefferson to transition from high school to college and for the quality education I received while at Jefferson. Lessons learned at Jefferson have impacted me throughout my career and adult life.”

He says Jefferson College is a great place to begin one’s post-secondary career. He was fortunate to have excellent instructors who cared about their students and were very knowledgeable in their respective fields, allowing him to build a strong background in the biological sciences at Jefferson and be successful in his chosen career.

“Jefferson College: a quality education at an affordable price!” Haggard received his Associate of Arts degree from Jefferson College in 1971. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Education with a major in biological science from Southwest Missouri State University in 1973.

After graduation, he began working at Hillsboro R-3 High School where he taught biological sciences classes, including General Biology, Human Anatomy and Physiology, and Ecology. He retired from Hillsboro in 2005, after 32 years of employment in the district.

Haggard has served as president or been an active member of numerous education, planning, and service organizations that have benefitted countless Jefferson County residents and students throughout his life and career. He has truly dedicated his life to helping others.
