Making A Difference...

Every gift to the 2010-11 Viking Fund directly affects the success of our students, their families and our community. The Jefferson College Foundation is a conscientious steward of your gift, thoughtfully choosing the best, most sustainable use of funds. In 2009, the Foundation provided $19,900 in emergency loans to 43 students, awarded $30,111 in scholarships, and provided $10,000 for a multitude of campus improvements and services.

Meeting the Needs of our Students

Through our Viking Fund, the Foundation supports Jefferson College, its students and its mission. Gifts to the Foundation help the College transform the lives of students and achieve long-range goals in the community. For more information, please contact us at:

Jefferson College provides an affordable means for students to create a better life for themselves and their families. Our students range from graduating high school seniors taking their first steps toward becoming self-supporting adults to displaced workers forging a new career path while struggling to maintain homes and feed their families. Many students in difficult personal and/or financial circumstances are not eligible for state or federal assistance, and many who are eligible face a dwindling supply of funds that might disappear before they complete their education. Your gift to the Jefferson College Foundation’s 2010-11 Viking Fund will help students of all ages and circumstances gain access to a successful future.

To increase access to higher education, the Foundation is seeking funding for:

- Scholarships
- Course-specific equipment/supplies
- Tutoring
- Technology
- Campus improvements to meet student needs
- Textbooks

Meeting the Needs of our Community

Jefferson College supports and promotes educational, community, cultural and economic development in Jefferson County, providing important community assets, such as:

- Affordable, convenient access to higher education.
- Educational programs that lead directly to employment.
- Workforce Development through job training, skill enhancement, professional certificates and academic degrees.
- Cultural enrichment through sponsorship of public events related to arts, entertainment, education and information.
- A source of qualified staff for local employers and Community Development through increased earning potential of qualified workers who remain in our community.
- Flexible learning options that provide access for non-traditional students through online learning, evening classes and satellite locations.

Investing In The Future

A donation to support Jefferson College students is a good investment. Our graduation rate is well above state and national averages. Furthermore, many of our students give back to the community by putting down roots in the area after graduating, which directly links them to our College and our community!
